The Neglected Home.

Every head of a home knows that now is the time for housecleaning, and that one day's work now is more effective than a week of work later. How about the refrigerator, the screens for doors and windows, the furniture covering, the precautions that prevent loss by moth or irritation by night. The home needs to be guarded with more than good seolutions.

Hearing Regarding Alleged Game of Craps.

TESTIMONY TODAY WITNESSE TELL OF PROCEED-INGS IN STATION.

Policeman Bloom was the first witness examined at the session of the police trial board held this afternoon to listen to testimony regarding the alleged crap game in Georgetown police station, for participation in which Policemen Hoffman and Laleger to Gaming.

Attorney Wilton J. Lambert asked him concerning a diamond pin that was stolen in the police station.

were placed on trial last week.

"I don't know anything about a pin that was stolen," he responded, with emphasis on the word stolen.

The witness was withdrawn, after objection had been made by Attorney Mattingly and sustained by the board.
Policeman Laleger, one of the defendans.

was then examined respecting part of the testimony he gave at the hearing last week. He was asked if he was on duty at the time he had told of having been in the ormitory about the date the crap game is charged to have been played. The testimony

"Did you call at Hilten's house last week?" Attorney Mattingly asked.
"I remember stopping by there one day," he witness answered. He denied that he had said anything to lilten about what he (Hilten) had said to lajor Sylvester. Defendant repeated that he did not engage in any game of craps in the station. He also said he had no "bones" in his possession in the station and said he saw one on the bed.

"If there had been any on the bed," he stated, "I think I would have seen them." The defendant said he could only account for Hilten's statement by saying the latter was prejudiced. So far as Clark is concerned, he stated, he thought he did not have as bright a mind as he should

"If there was a question of Clark's san-ity raised," said Laleger, "I should have to say I believe he is insane."

He said he had told Clark he was crazy at the time he (Clark) struck Hilten

Testimony of F. D. Payne.

Frank D. Payne appeared as a witness an dtold the trial board that he had conducted a lunch room at 1209 32d street. He said that Policeman Hilten's reputation for truth and veracity is bad.

"Would you believe him under oath?" the witness was asked.
"I don't know anything about him personally." he responded.

Witness said he had heard the officer's reputation discussed in his (witness) place of business, but could not give the name of a single individual who had disussed it, nor could he tell when he heard the discussion. He did say that the dis-cussion was brought about by a talk about police matters. "Who asked you to come here and testify against Mr. Hilton's reputation?"

He said that Mr. Lalleger had asked him to go to Mr. Lambert's. Witness said he had been arrested for conducting a poker game and forfeited $25 collateral. Lalleger, he said, participated in the raid, which was conducted by Sergt. Schneider.

Hugh Clements testified that he recollected the time that Hilton was on charges for "hoodling," and said Hilton wanted him to testify in the case for him. Hilton, he said, told him he would pay him for it. Witness said he had been a member of the police force and had resigned of his own free will. He said he had been before the court once for assault.

"That is our case," said Mr. Lambert. He said he would renew his motion that the charges be dismissed on the ground that the officers were not on duty at the time charged. His motion was overruled, and Mr. Lambert noted an exception.

Against Other Policemen "Then," said Mr. Sindair, "we will take up the case of Privates Walsh and Hoff-

In this case the charge is that they engaged in a game of craps in the police station, and that they afterward denied, un-der oath, that they had done so. A third specification against Walsh alleges that he talked about the game charged.

Policeman Howard P. Short was called and asked what he knew of a crap game having been played in the station during the time covered in the charge.

Witness said that some time about Christmas he came off duty at 12 o'clock and went to the top floor of the sation, where he sleeps. Witness said he saw "bones" on a bed and Walsh and Hoffman were on opposite sides of the bed.

'I saw no crap game played," he stated, "and I saw no money."
Witness said he saw Walsh the next morning and he (Walsh) said he had won $72 or $73, and Hoffman had asked him for the loan of $40. Walsh asked him what he thought of it, and witness said he thought it was bad business. He told Walsh that he thought it would merely be a matter of loaning a man his own money. Did Not Hear "Crap."

Witness said he did not advise Walsh one way or the other about the matter. During the conversation about the winning of the money the witness etated, the word "crap" was not mentioned.

"How many 'bones' did you see in dormitory?" Mr. Sinclair asked. "Two," was his answer.

Witness repeated that he did not see the men handle the "bones." That affair did not interest him enough, he said, for him to go over and look at it. Witness retired shortover and look at it. Witness retired shortly afterward and could not say that the men engaged in a game. Witness was asked to state the exact language used by Walsh the morning after he had seen the "bones," and he said Walsh had told him that he had either "won" or "trimmed that young fellow of $72 or $73."

There were four men in the room the night he saw the bones. Witness said he did not hear the conversation between the men in the dormitory.

"I didn't want to see if there was a game there that night," he admitted. Witness was asked if he was not charged with the duty of arresting and prosecuting persons who play craps, but he made no

On cross-examination witness said that "bones" are frequently taken from prisoners, and it is not an unusual thing to see them about the station. He said he had never seen any gambling done in the station

"I might have heard some conversation between them," said Short, "but I don't know what it was to swear to it positive-

All witness knew about the money was what Walsh had told him.

Questioned by Mr. Mattingly, witness admitted that he had had a conversation with Policeman Brown and said he told the latter that he (witness) would tell the truth if called as a witness. Witness said he had told the lieutenant of a money transaction there. He denied that he had told anybody that he had seen a crap game in the station. Witness did not remember that any superior officer had urged him not to say anything about a crap game in the station. Policeman John Kuster testified that he knew nothing of a crap game having been played in the dormitory of the station. He said he did not see the "bones" on the bed. "Did you ever hear of a crap game being played in the station?" "Not until there was such a stir made about it."

Witness said the first he knew or heard of the affair was two or three days before the publication of the affair in The Star. Kuster was on the stand when The Star's report closed.

AWAIT PRESIDENT'S RETURN.

Text of Castro's Reply Regarding Proposed Arbitration Received.

The incoming South American mall, received this morning at the State Department, brought from Minister Bowen, at Caracas, the text of President Castro's reply to the minister's proposition to submit to arbitration the issues between the United States and Venezuela.

The matter is now regarded as urgent, and it is stated, that unless the situation is further complicated by some unexpected development in Venezuela the note will be allowed to await the consideration of the cabinet when it meets again at the close of the President's western trip. Meanwhile the officials of the State Department positively decline to make public the text of the correspondence between Minister Bowen and President Castro or to express any opinion as to the character of the language employed by Castro.

cape from death beneath the wheels of a locomotive. The child, with two others, was crossing the Union Pacific tracks on her way to school. Her companions passed in front of an epproaching freight train and called to her to follow. She hesitated, and then, when the train was barely ten feet away, made the dash.

Directly in the center of the track her feet clipped and she fell on her hands and knees. The pilot of the locomotive struck her and threw her into the air, where she turned a complete somersault and again fell on the track. The engineer weanwhile had reversed, and the locomotive stopped with the pilot over the child's body. Had the engine gone another foot she would have been crushed to death. She was found to be severely bruised.

LOCAL PRESBYTERY RAISING SILK WORMS

Much Interest in Secretary Wilson's Efforts Shown.

MANY INQUIRIES MADE

IMPROVEMENT IN THE REELING MACHINES NEEDED.

Numerous Groves of Mulberry Trees in the Country-Success in Growing Havana Tobacco.

The story in The Star the other day of how Secretary Wilson and his assistants are preparing to build up a new American industry-that of silk-worm raising and silk reeling-has apparently attracted wide at Letters have already been received at the department from all over the country making inquiries as to the manner in which the department intends to continue its work and requesting shipments of silk worm eggs. Incidently, it has been found by means of these letters that there are quite a number of mulberry tree groves in the eastern, central and southern portions of the United States, some of them of sufficient size to make the raising of silk worms prefitable industry.

Improved Silk Reeling Desired. Secretary Wilson, in discussing the silk industry proposition with a Star reporter, said that in his opinion it would not be long before some ingenious Yankee had invented a silk-reeling machine that would be a vast improvement over those now in general use in the silk districts of France and other European countries. The latest improved French reeling machines are in use in the Agricultural Department, and as a matter of fact, several quite important improvements have already been made in them by the experts of the department. This in itself, the Secretary believes, should be a sufficient indication to the optimistically inclined to warrant the statement tha when silk-worm culture spreads throughout the United States, as the Secretary and his assistants hope tnd believe it will, some bright American interested in the young industry will invent a reeling machine that will make the French affair seem cumbersome and antiquated by comparison.

The Secretary of Agriculture is much pleased with the interest in silk culture that is being shown by planters and farm-ers in the southern states and elsewhere, and there is likely to be a big demand for mulberry trees in the near future. Young trees can be obtained at comparatively small expense, and it is believed that many of those interested in silk culture will proture numbers of the trees on their own initiative. Information on all points connected with the silk industry will be furnished by the experts of the department to persons Secretary Wilson's Efforts Commende's. Secretary Wilson has received many sinere words of commendation of late in connection with his efforts to create an American industry. His work in furthering the peet sugar industry in the United States, which has now grown to enormous proportions, is well remembered, as are other agricultural benefits which he has been prominent in fostering and aiding.

tributions. Team I alone remains with no subscriptions sent in. Team A has secured $80; Team B, $100; Team C, $25; Team ment has lasted for a rather longer period than the terms of most of his predecessors. He has been able to take up a project and follow it through to fruition, which, of course, would have been otherwise a matter of impossibility, and it is certainly true that in the Agricultural Department, perhaps more so than in any other branch of the government service, unity of direction counts for a great deal.

Success With Tobacco.

The other day a visitor at the Agricultural Department called on the Secretary and in the course of his conversation complimented the latter on the results he had achieved and on his plans for the future. "But I don't hear much about the American eigar-tobacco crop," the visitor finally can cigar-tobacco crop," the visitor finally remarked. "I suppose that is one American industry that will fall to the ground."
"That reminds me," said the Secretary, "that I want to smoke." Then he took two fine looking perfecto cigars out of his pocket and handed one to the visitor. "If we could grow tobacco like that," he said, "I guess we would be doing pretty well, don't you think?"

lon't you think?"
The vistor lighted his cigar, smoked for a moment with keen enjoyment and then remarked: "Well, I should say so. That is a 50-cent straight clear Havana cigar, or I never tasted one."

"That cigar," replied the Secretary, calmly, "is an American product. The filler was grown in Alabama and the wrapper in Conencticut."
"I am certainly converted," declared the visitor, after he had smoked some more,

"and your domestic tobacco with the clear Havana flavor can't get on the market too
